

CEO Tang, Behave Yourself Novel Chapter 15 To 16

---

C15

Return the money after returning home for the new year?!

Heh, if she believed such nonsense, then she was a fool!

"Sister-in-law, I've borrowed a lot of money from my friend two days ago. It's only been a few days, how could I ask for this!"

"Warmth, it's not that I'm talking to you, but you've already gone silly from reading books. This sheep driver knows he can't catch a fleece, why would you want to borrow money from the same person? Why don't you just change friends! "

Su Qingrou rolled his eyes as he silently cursed in his heart. Aren't you trying to take advantage of me alone? If you have the ability, go and ask Huanhuan for money!

"Sister-in-law, how about this, borrowing money from friends, I won't be able to open my mouth, I'll borrow some from Huanhuan first, she knows how to transfer money online, you don't have to pay me back, you just have to return it directly to Huanhuan, Huanhuan has to go home from time to time to eat, you can give it to her the next time she comes to eat!"

"Forget it, since this matter is so troublesome, your big brother and I will discuss it and give another gift to LuLu. As long as I know that your benefactor is busy, I won't disturb you in your work any longer. I'm hanging up!"

Zhou Jing hung up the phone without waiting for him to speak.

She smiled and returned her attention to the computer screen in front of her. However, just as she finished organizing her thoughts, her phone, which she just put down, rang again.

Warmth tilted his head and looked. It was actually Su Dong's number. Zhou Jing had just hung up when Su Dong called. Why was there anything he didn't understand?

"Dad ~" Su Tong let out a long sigh, pressed the call button and called Su Dong.

"Warm, what's wrong with you? Your sister-in-law only wanted you to help pick out the birthday present for LuLu, and didn't say that she wouldn't give you money. So what if you paid her first? And this golden pendant is the same price, you said money without even going to see it, we're all one family, do you know how bad it is? Your sister-in-law is still pregnant! "Don't make her unhappy, the one in her stomach is my golden grandson. If there's something that's good, then we won't be finished!"

Nikki frowned. "Jin Sun?" You didn't even give birth to this, and you already know that it's your grandson? "

"Of course!" As he said that, Su Dong's originally displeased tone instantly turned better. "Your eldest sister-in-law just went to look for a doctor she knows secretly. Your eldest brother and I are here too. That doctor said that it must be a son."

"Dad, isn't the country not allowed to be investigated? And why are you looking this up? Is it because your daughter doesn't want to give birth? "

"..."

Hearing the silence on the other end of the line, Su Wangyou's heart turned cold. "Dad, that was a human life after all!"

"What do you mean 'human life is not worth living'? Not to mention that your big brother already has LuLu as his daughter, so what's the use of having another daughter?" The incense can't be broken by your big brother, can it? "

"Dad, what era is it now? Why are you still so old-fashioned? What's wrong with your daughter? Does she no longer have your bloodline in her?"

"Warm, why are you telling this to me? Isn't it fine now? Since your sister-in-law has found out that he is a son, she will naturally give birth to him.

Alright, you don't have to say any more nonsense, just listen to me, go to the mall and buy a gold pendant for LuLu tonight. Just treat it as compensation for your sister-in-law.

Warmth closed his eyes, took a deep breath and said coldly, "Dad, I don't have any money!"

"If you don't have the money, lend it to me! In short, if you don't send this golden pendant back, then don't go home during New Year's! You're already in your thirties and don't know anything about the affairs of the world. Don't you think that if you don't marry and live at home at such a young age, aren't you afraid she'll kick you out? "

After saying this, Su Dong hung up the phone with a "pa" sound.

The phone was hung up twice in a row. Furthermore, it was all about those bad thoughts. She was in a completely lost mood now. Who did she offend? She had been hiding so far away. Why couldn't she be at peace? Was there a need to treat her like a sinner?

If you don't buy a necklace, you're not allowed to go home to celebrate the new year. Fine, if you don't go home you'll just have to save her a red packet, otherwise her dad would have to give her 10,000 yuan for the new year.

Although not going back would bring her so many benefits, when she thought about the New Year's Eve and how she would have to spend it alone outside, she still felt a sense of desolation. It would have been fine if she didn't have her family, but she had so many people here!

She stood up from behind her desk and walked to the French window. As she looked at the people coming and going downstairs, her eyes unconsciously turned red.

Born into such a family, she couldn't blame anyone but herself for not being able to change the situation.

Lulu, are you the other me? Or could it be that you are another Zhou Jing who calmly accepted the injustice brought by this man and woman, waiting for you to grow up and then continue this injustice onto your children?

Su Wen clenched his fist, and secretly made up his mind. If she had the chance to have her own daughter in the future, she would absolutely not let her experience the grievances brought about by this injustice.

This afternoon, Su Qingrou stood by the window, motionless until night fell. The lanterns were lit, and she had initially wanted to return to her code after calming herself down, but after such a long time, all that came to mind were the words that Su Dong Fang had just said.

They had really thought that if the person in Zhou Jing's stomach was a daughter, she would miscarry. Such a living human life was as cheap as grass in their eyes, and that was only because the child was a daughter. And now that they found out that she was a boy, Su Wen could clearly feel that Su Dong's attitude towards Zhou Jing had changed drastically.

Previously, he might have stepped back because of his big brother, but now, he was simply following behind Zhou Jing and holding her in his arms. No wonder Zhou Jing had the face to ask for the golden pendant. Was he here to claim credit for his actions?

What a joke, it wasn't her child that was being born again!

Once Jin Sun landed on the ground, would Su Dong still have Lulu, his granddaughter, in his eyes?

Su Wen laughed bitterly, "Su Wen, ah, Su Wen, you yourself can't climb out of this swamp, but you have the leisure to worry about others. Even if LuLu is ignored because of this little brother, what can you do? Did he have to bring LuLu along with him? Let's not talk about whether LuLu is willing to go with you. She still has her biological parents. As your aunt, how can you have the right and the right to do this!?"

C16

Tang Bainfeng finished reading the last document in front of him and rubbed his aching temples. Every day was a high-intensity job, and as time went on, he gradually developed a headache. Fortunately, it wasn't too deep.

When the pain in his temples lessened, Tang Banyeng got up and took his suit jacket from the back of his chair. Just as he was about to turn around and leave, he saw the motionless figure standing in front of the window.

He remembered that when he returned to his office after the afternoon meeting, he had already seen her standing at the window. At that time, he had thought that she just wanted to take a look at the scenery, but from the looks of the current situation, she probably hadn't moved an inch.

Tang Bingfeng didn't know why he'd noticed her. She was obviously just a pretty girl, but for someone like him who was used to seeing pretty girls, she was nothing more than a cabbage.

It was just that she seemed to have a kind of stubbornness that made her want to live even in the midst of hard work and happiness. Others might not be able to see that kind of stubbornness, but Tang Banyeng excelled at observing the expressions on her face.

In the few times that they met, she would always encounter a little trouble, but she always showed a smiling face. Yet, for her to stand in front of the window for so long with such a lonely expression, what was going on?

And just as Tang Banyeng was trying to guess just what had happened, the slim figure in front of the window suddenly moved.

This office was directly across from the room. The exterior windows of the building were specially made so that those inside could clearly see inside, but those outside couldn't. It was actually a good place to spy on others.

Of course, when they were building the building, Tang Bainfeng would never have imagined that this glass, set up to protect privacy, would one day have such an effect.

Tang Yi Feng saw the woman in the opposite room move a short table to the French window with great difficulty. She turned around and went to the kitchen and took out an electric cooker, plugged it in, and poured quite a bit of water into the hotpot. After that, she went back into the kitchen and didn't come out again for a long time.

"This woman can't be thinking of eating the hotpot alone, right?" Tang Banyeng muttered to himself.

And just as if he was trying to verify Tang Bainfeng's conjecture, he saw that the woman in the opposite room had come out of the kitchen with a large tray in her hands. There were dozens of small plates on the tray, and each plate was covered with various ingredients such as fish balls, goose intestines, hair belly, vegetables, and so on.

Looking at the plate full of ingredients, Tang Banyeng suspected that she wasn't eating alone. She might have invited a friend to come and eat with her, but her friend hadn't arrived yet.

However, just as this thought appeared in his mind, he saw the woman in front of him put down the tray and sit down cross-legged on the cushion by the window. She lowered her head and began to adjust the spice plate.

It really was just one person eating. With so much food, could a petite woman like her finish it all?

With the intention to know the results, Tang Banyan actually stopped right in front of the window.

He looked at the fiery hot soup, the dwindling ingredients on the tray, the window glass that had a layer of mist slowly hung on it due to the heat from the hotpot, and his lips that were faintly discernable.

Tang Bingfeng swallowed a mouthful of saliva unconsciously. It looked like he would have to find a hotpot restaurant after he left the company.

Two hours later, Tang Bainfeng finally saw an empty tray. There was also a woman sitting on the wall behind him who was barely able to sit still.

Tang Bainfeng lowered his head and looked at his watch. He found it hard to believe that he had watched someone eat a hotpot for two hours, but he didn't regret wasting this time.

When this woman ate, she always gave off a feeling of happiness and satisfaction, making those who saw her happy.

After she finished eating, a smile finally appeared on her face. Tang Bainfeng shook his head and whispered, "You're such a strange woman!"

She smiled with satisfaction as she looked at the messy cup in front of her, as well as the fact that she seemed to be pregnant for the past three months. Although she was barely holding on to the cup and finding it difficult to even move her fingers, the dark clouds that had shrouded her heart today had all disappeared.

For a foodie, there was nothing that could not be solved with a meal. If one meal was no good, then there would be two!

He leaned against the window with satisfaction and looked down at the traffic. He felt like a warrior that couldn't be defeated again.

Hmph, if she doesn't go home, then she doesn't go home. Other people would worry about the endless meals and the red packets of his wallet. After saving those two red packets, she could reward him with a trip abroad.

Back then, she had hurriedly returned to her hometown due to her mother's illness and had never gone out ever since. During the period of studying abroad, she had not had the chance to visit the coaches who had taken care of her.

As for LuLu, although she was worried about the treatment she might receive, her fate was still in her own hands, and the path to walk could only be decided by herself. As an aunt, the only thing she could do was to stand firmly behind her and act as her shield.

"Ding Ling Ling"

There was another burst of ringing, and before he could get up to answer the phone, he had already guessed whose number it was.

Indeed!

When he saw the caller ID, that was the word that popped up in his head.

"Huanhuan ~" Because she ate so much, her tone of voice carried a sense of laziness.

"Sis, you went to eat hotpot again?"

"Haha, you are indeed a good sister. How did you guess that?"

"Is there even a need to guess? "Since young, you've always been like this. When you're in a bad mood, you have to eat a hotpot. After eating the hotpot, you've always spoken like this. If I still can't figure it out, then you and I will have been sisters for nothing!"

"You know me so well!"

"Nonsense, speak. What request did our stingy sister-in-law ask you for today?"

"What is it? Dad didn't tell you? "

Tsk, dad knows he's in the wrong, but can he tell me the truth? You're not even willing to buy a birthday present for LuLu, you know my temper, Dad said like this, I directly went back in, saying that you are an aunt, buying a birthday present for your niece is a friendship, even if you don't buy it is your duty, you are not a parent, you don't have that kind of obligation, when I said that, Dad kicked me out, saying that I am someone else's daughter-in-law, this family doesn't welcome me, if not welcome me, I would still be happy! "

